This one-day symposium seeks to promote a sustained and open discussion on a debate within contemporary feminist philosophy over the political, cultural and philosophical value of the concepts of gender and sexual difference. With the increasing interest in addressing women’s issues here in Turkey, it is important to bring this issue to the table in a critical way.